

Name:

Period:

Characterization

Directions: There are four ways in which an author develops characters.

1. Physical description of the character
2. The character's words and actions
3. What others say about the character
4. Direct commentary about the character by the narrator

Write the character's name in the center then find an instant of each type of characterization.

